

The Pediatric Specialty Clinics at Johns Hopkins

will soon have a new home nearby in the Harriet Lane Child Health Building at 200 North Wolfe Street, on the corner of Wolfe and Orleans Streets. We plan to move in early December. We will let you know in advance where to go for your next clinic appointment. Our phone numbers will be the same, so you are welcome to call your clinic if you have any questions.

The Pediatric Specialty Clinics at Johns Hopkins

we're moving!

Questions? We'll try to answer some

Will my same doctors and nurses care for me in the new building?

Yes! The faces will be the same, only the surroundings will change. We're looking forward to providing the same great pediatric and adolescent specialty care in our brand new facility.

Will all my health records transfer?

Yes.

Will my specialty clinic have the same hours and services?

Yes.

Where are the main entrances to the new building?

The main entrance is on Wolfe Street, midway between Orleans and Fayette Streets. In the near future, there will be an entrance to the clinic from the ground level of the Orleans Street Garage.
